CURRENCIES:

There's been a pause in the weakening of the Dollar. But the facts remain stark: the Dollar is at an important chartist juncture against the Euro, attacking the bull Dollar trend from 2008. It's not quite that simple since there are a series of horizontal resistances at coincide with current levels. But look at the Dollar Yen as well... Sterling is side-lined against both the Dollar and the Euro.

All the Prior Pivotal lows of 1993, 2001, 2008 and 2016 have acted as good resistance. A massive Multiple Top has formed.

The recent rally back into the band of resistance from those lows should be closely watched for failure as before...

The possible bear continuation triangle looks rather unlikely at the moment.

Stand back and wait for a monthly close for greater clarity.

Stocks

STOCKS:

The rise of the S&P to challenge the Prior all time high is impressive. But note the lagging indices elsewhere: the EuroStoxx is struggling to break back through the highs of last June and the FTSE languishes similarly. The Nikkei allies itself with the S&P and sits right at the June High. All eyes are on the US – a clear break through there will revitalise the other markets. But their lack of vigour reveals vulnerability.
