All the Prior Pivotal lows of 1993, 2001, 2008 and 2016 have acted as good resistance. A massive Multiple Top has formed.

The recent rally back into the band of resistance looks like failing for the fourth time – there's a Key Reversal created last month too – it all looks bearish.

The possible bear continuation triangle looks to be threatening the market still.

STOCKS:

Note well the tight trading range of the European market, sitting on important support. And the continued drift of the FTSE –now sitting on significant short-term support at 5547 which should be closely watched. The Nikkei remains in dramatic contrast – boulding testing the Prior Highs a break of which will sent it a good deal higher still.
